Baptist Preacher Back from Convention

Rev. H. P. East has returned from the Southern Baptist Convention held at Kansas City and reports a great convention. This is the first time the convention has had a building large enough to take care of the crowd. The record attendance was 14,000, this is the largest attendance that has been in the great hall, which can be made to seat 20,000 people.

Steel Bridge Over River Is Ready

Lynchburg, May 30.—A steel bridge built over the James River at Bent Creek by funds furnished jointly by the Counties of Appomattox and Nelson and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, has been completed and will probably be turned over to the State for maintenance. The structure rests on piers of a bridge which was burned during the Civil War. The bridge takes the place of a ferry, which has been operated for nearly sixty years.

PAGEANT HISTORY GIVEN BY PUPILS OF HIGH SCHOOL

What now is uppermost in the minds of the young folks is the Historical Pageant which will be the first event to be held in the new auditorium. Over fifty characters are represented in the make-up, and the event promises to be one of the greatest interest. The costumes direct from New York have been ordered some of which are very gorgeous and expensive.

The Pageant has five acts beginning with the dawn of Britain's early history and the coming of the cross. It brings the English history on down to the landing of the pilgrims and then presents typical epochs of American history, dealing with the Revolutionary days as well as those of '61 with a typical Colonial garden party. The concluding act is "American Triumphant," which is thrilling.

It is hoped every patriotic man and woman, boy and girl will come out to help make the affair a success.

The admission charges which are for the purpose of paying expenses only, will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Remember the night, Tuesday night, June 5.

APPOMATTOX IS VICTORIOUS; PLAY ELKS SATURDAY

At a beautifully played game the Appomattox team of the Tri-County League defeated the Craddock-Terry team of Lynchburg on the Lynchburg Fair grounds last Saturday.

The feature of the game was the pitching of Thomas for Appomattox, he striking out 11 men and allowing only 3 hits.

Appomattox won by a score of 3-1. The visitors only run being scored on a steal home by Fortune. Appomattox got 8 hits off of Smoky Lindsay, the Lynchburg pitcher. These were so well scattered that only 3 runs resulted.

Other features of the game was a home run by Parker, who played short stop for Appomattox and a wonderful catch by Carl Blackwell in the first inning, which robbed Johnny Taylor of a hit.

The game was reported by Lynchburg papers to have been the best played in Lynchburg this season and shows that the Appomattox team is capable of playing first class baseball.

Appomattox has a game with Elks team of Lynchburg on Lynchburg baseball grounds Saturday June 2, first game being called at 2:30.

The town will be supplied by electricity from 5 a. m. to 12 p. m.

Tobacco Plants Treated Against Worms

A large number of farmers have asked me about dipping tobacco plants in a solution of arsenate of lead to present cut and wire worms from destroying them.—Several farmers in the county have used this method and they report good results. Others who have used it claim they could not see where it did any good. One pound of Arsenate of lead was dissolved in 8 gallons of water and the plants dipped in this solution up to the bud after they had been washed.

You will notice from the above that I am not stating that dipping the plant will destroy all the worms, but simply giving you the experience of some of the farmers who have used this method.

After the tobacco is set the use of the following material will kill a large percentage of the worms. 16 pounds of meal, one half pound Paris Green, one quarter pound of salt and one pint of sugar mixed thoroughly. Put this mixture in a bucket with holes in the bottom and sprinkle a small amount on ach plant. At first thought this will seem to be a big job, but the plants can be sprinkled about as fast as a person can walk. As scarce as plants are I believe this will be a paying proposition.

One day last week, Mr. Godkin, of Blackburg, and I examined twelve plant beds for "wild fire" and I am glad to report that there was not a trace of the disease found on any of the beds. Only two of the beds had a good stand and one of these is very late. Three beds did not have twenty five plants in them. The others had from 25 per cent to 75 per cent stand.

Don't forget that Saturday June 9 is the regular meeting day of the County Tobacco Growers Association. Every farmer in the county should have their delegates here on time at 11 o'clock, that day. Mr. Baker has just had a letter from Director Wingfield will be present at this meeting. He also states that Mr. Wingfield is the "Fighting Mr. R. D. Williams with him. All tobacco growers are welcome at this meeting whether they are members or not.

Factory Man at Moses Garage

During the past few days, Mr. W. E. Noakes, service man representing the Chevrolet Motor Co., has been inspecting and adjusting the cars of Chevrolet owners. Mr. Noakes is a thoroughly experienced mechanic having been working at the automobile trade for several years.

This is a service that the average car owners does not receive in the smaller communities, but Messrs T. W. and C. T. Moses are endeavoring to give to the owners of Chevrolet cars the best service possible and they are meeting with great success.

Mr. Noakes will return in a few weeks and every Chevrolet owner is invited to bring his car in for inspection.

VOL. XXXVI—No. 20. APPOMATTOX, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1923 ESTABLISHED 1892

MEMORIAL TABLET TO MAURY UNVEILED IN GOSHEN PASS

Richmond, June 13. (Special to The Times-Virginian.)—Represented by her Governor and other State dignitaries Virginia will on Saturday, June 9, pay a tribute of love to the memory of Matthew Fontaine Maury, when a memorial tablet was unveiled to this world-famous scientist in Goshen Pass.

The monument will consist of a rough hewn granite boulder, with bronze medallion and tablet affixed, the latter being the work of the sculptor Morello, the whole to be set on a base of concrete and native stones. At the foot of the monument will be placed a 2,000 pound anchor with three fathoms of chain, the gift of the Virginia Pilots' Association.

The location of the monument is in the heart of one of the most historic and romantically beautiful sections of Virginia. The tablet will be unveiled fifteen miles from the city of Lexington, about thirty miles from National Bridge and about thirty miles from Hot Spring by way of Warm Springs mountain.

From Natural Bridge to Hot Spring through Lexington and Goshen Pass is a stretch of mountain scenery unexcelled in the South. It is a section once intimately familiar and deeply beloved by the great hydrographer. The truth of this assertion is borne out in that latest request of Maury, who petitioned that his body should be carried through Goshen Pass in the spring of the year when the mountain ivy, laurel and rhododendron were in bloom. The request was complied with, after which the body of the "Pathfinder of the Seas," was conveyed to Richmond for final sepulcher.

President Harding, prevented from being present on account of his Western trip will send greetings by radio. Among scientists throughout the world will be represented may be mentioned the National Geographic Society, the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, the United States Geological Survey and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The Virginia Military Cadets taken pass in review, and Dr. Alphonso Smith professor of English at the United States Naval Academy, will be orator of the day. He will be presented by Miss Trinkle. The tablet will be unveiled by Miss Maury Worth, of Richmond, a daughter of Commander Maury. All State officials, as well as members of the General Assembly, have been invited.

TAX ON GASOLINE EFFECTIVE ON THE 28TH DAY OF JUNE

Richmond, June 13. (Special to The Times-Virginian.)—The Virginia special session of the General Assembly, providing a two and three cent tax on motor fuels will become operative as of June 28. On this date all gasoline held by retail dealers will be taxed at the rate of two cents a gallon. The same will be true of wholesalers in the State. Report blanks are now being printed by the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth to be distributed to dealers. Gas sold by the wholesale dealer after the law becomes effective and on which the wholesaler assumes the tax, will not be subject to report or tax by the retailer. Under provisions of the law the tax from June 28 to July 1 will be two cents a gallon, which tax will automatically become three cents on the latter date. Gasoline purchased in tank lots by retailers from wholesalers beyond the boundries of Virginia will place the local retail buyer in the same position as though he were a wholesaler in Virginia so far as the tax is concerned.

Arrangements have been perfected by the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth for ascertaining the names of all such dealers as those last referred to, and should these fail to pay the tax within thirty days after the same is due the penalty of a double tax will be imposed. All wholesale retail and car buyers are expected to co-operate with the State in payment of the tax which is expected to result in an annual income to the Commonwealth ranging from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000.

Building Committee Accepts Auditorium

The new auditorium was accepted Tuesday by the Building Committee after it had been carefully inspected by the architect, Mr. Warner of the State Department of Education. The building will cost about $20,000 including seats which have been ordered but as yet have not been received.

During the commencement many hundreds of visitors and citizens of the county attended the exercises and were delighted to see such a handsome and commodious structure with ample room to take care of the unusually large crowds.

The school board and Building Committee are to be congratulated on their most philantrophic efforts to erect such a long felt need in our midst and a building so well planned and constructed. The architect was well pleased with it and remarked that no school in Virginia of a town this size had one to compare with it. To use his exact words, "I want to say that the building is a mighty fine job. The materials used come up to the specifications in every respect and the workmanship is as good as any one wants."

Thanks should be extended to Senator S. L. Ferguson, who while in Richmond aided in securing an annual appropriation of $4,500 for two years and just recently another $2,000, making a total so far received, $11,000 from State funds for the building. The school board has been enabled to borrow from the Literary Fund the balance of $9,000 for a long period of time and it is hoped that further appropriations may be secured to cover the total cost thereby making it possible to have this great addition to our town without costing the people of the county any material part.

OBITUARIES

This community was shocked and saddened May the 30 when the announcement was made of the sudden and untimely death of Mary L. the 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Beale. Mary had been sick only a few days when the physician said she must be taken to a hospital but immediately carried, all that could be done for our loved one was done, but God saw best to take, her. She died the following night. Mary was a bright and attractive child and loved by a host of little friends whose hearts were greatly saddened by the sudden passing away of their little friend and schoolmate.

We cannot tell why God called the only daughter, but He knows best.

The funeral was conducted June 1, by Rev. J. H. Gordon, pastor of Baptist Churches, attended by a large concourse of friends and loved ones whose hearts go out in the deepest sympathy to the broken hearted parents. The interment was made in the family burying ground, where the little grave was more than covered with numerous beautiful floral designs.

The pall-bearers were as follows: uncles—Messrs. John Meggisson, Albert Beale, John Beale, Sam Meggisson. The flower girls were the little playmates of Mary She leaves to mourn her death, father, mother and four brothers, Clarence, Bennie, Walker and James.

TOBACCO GROWERS FIGHT FOR ASSN.

Declare Landlord Members Obligated To Deliver Their Crop—Win Move Suits.

Hundreds of members of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, backing up the decision of their directors have declared that the tobacco of tenants on the farms of landlords who are members of their association shall not compete on the auction market with tobacco placed in the farmers' pool.

Officials of the local units of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association in Alamance County met on June 2 at Burlington and adopted the following resolution:

"We, the farmers of Alamance County, members of the Tobacco Growers Association (Co-operative), being assembled at Burlington, Alamance County, for our regular monthly meeting, do wish to go on record as supporting our association to the very fullest in its efforts to enforce each and every term of its contract signed by our members. We have in mind at this time, especially, that part of the contract which holds each landlord members for all the tobacco produced on his land.

Further, we wish to thank our Directors and officials for so frankly stating their position in this matter and for all the many great things they have accomplished for us.

And we feel the the Association has acted wisely in not borrowing money to make additional payments up to this time and we realize that if our tobacco is sold in an orderly manner we will have to wait a reasonable time for a final settlement.

Copy to be sent to the Association's Secretary at Raleigh, N. C. Signed S. L. Dixon, County Chairman.

The organized group of farmers in County on the sales floors at Keyville reaffirmed their protest against the action of landlords who are members of the association in allowing tobacco which is not delivered to the association to be sold on the open market.

Their complete independence from the auction system on June 4, at their monthly county meeting in Raleigh, the farmers art that the great majority of North Carolina farmers will back this policy of their association this the growers of Virginia where the courts have required its members to pay liquidated damages on tobacco which was raised by non-members.

A sweeping victory was won by the tobacco association in Virginia this week when three cases came up for trial before Judge W. R. Rucker at the Halifax Court House. The Virginia jury put a stop to the habit which some members have of hiding behind the skirts of their wives when a member who raised tobacco on land belonging to his wife who was a nonmember, was required to pay liquidated damages for three-fourts of the tobacco that he raised on his wife's tenant, at the rate of cents per pound with court cost and attorneys fees. In the opinion of the association attorneys this will put an effectual stop to many who endeavor to evade the obligations of their contract by growing or selling tobacco in the names of their wives.

Two other defendants whose cases came up this week in the Halifax court agreed to all terms of the suits brought against them rather than try their cases. This week's cases of the tobacco co-operative were added to a long list of legal victories for the association in Virginia where 29 suits filed in that state have now been settled with defendants upon terms of the association. In Halifax County alone, thirteen out of thirteen suits have resulted favorably for the co-operative. In Pittsylvania County the association has already won eight on of nine of its suits and in North Carolina a large number of its suits brought against contract breakers have been settled on the association's terms.

Quite a number of Pamplin folks attended the Pageant at Appomattox Tuesday night.

So Their Pets Were Named.

Sylvia has just started to school. Her teacher told the class the story about Jack and Jill the other day. A little later, to test their memories, she asked who Jack and Jill were. Sylvia answered: "Our dogs."

A LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of The Times Virginian:

Most of us are concerned too little with public questions. We seem to delude ourselves with the idea they do not affect us, and many hardly take the trouble to vote. The fact is, some of us do not trouble ourselves to vote at all. At present much is being said for and against the proposed bond issue for road construction, by its advocates and opponents As usual, many are regarding the issue with more or less indifference. That it vitally concerns all of us, I believe, will be shown by the following letter from a gentleman in the State of Washington:

Mr. John W. Fonton,
The Farm Tallor,
Bedford, Va.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your advertisement in the Country Gentleman I wish you would send me your booklet on farms. If you care to send a number of them, I will distribute them among the farmers in this section, as there are many of them anxious to get away from here on account of such high taxes. The tax on property here is 7 per cent. or $7 on the $100 and the assessed valuation on everything the farmer owns is in many cases two or five times the real selling value.

Please mail the booklets.

Yours truly,
GEORGE SEAMAN.

When I send a farm booklet in reply to an inquiry, I always enclose a personal information form. The information form when filled out enables me to assist the prospect in selecting a farm to fit him. One of the questions on this form is "Why do you wish to change your present location?" I received one of these forms from Ohio filled out May 17th, in which this question was answered as follows: "Mainly because of the climate. We have all kinds here but good. Big snow and freeze on the 10th of May, and looks as though we will have another new. Another reason is poor schools and high taxes. Our tax rate is $8.88 on the $100 actual value."

It seems to me that as above is one of the many reasons why so many farmers have left the farms for other work.

A total of 2,500 colored laborers were shown to have left the country for Northern industrial centers, according to 208 of the reports from correspondents. This in the opinion of Statistician Taylor, represents but a very small percentage of the actual number which have left the State.

Shortage of negro labor throughout the country sections of the State is reported to be as acute as at the close of the World War. The situation in the estimation of Commissioner Koiner may soon become alarming.

"There are many reasons for the present large movement of farm families and farm labor from the country to the city" said Mr. Koiner today," the principal one being the farmers by reason of the low price of farm products.

"Unfavorable reports received during the past three years by the farmers have made it impossible for them to supply their families with comforts and luxuries now enjoyed by the worker in other lines of industry. These returns also render it impossible for them to compete in bidding for labor against road contractors, as wmills operators and city manufacturers. Without labor farm production will necessarily decrease. This in turn will result after a time in higher prices for farm products, so the man who sticks to the farm will gain in the long run, but he is sorely tempted to quit under present conditions. The only way in which the farmer can improve his condition is through co-operative efforts in both production and marketing."

The lure of fabulous wages promised by steel and coal industries in Pennsylvania, as exploited by labor agents sent into the South, is thought to be responsible, not along for the negro leaving the Southern farm, but for thousands leaving the South altogether. Scarcely a train pulls out from any station in Richmond these days gonig North through Washington which does not carry its quota of negroes leaving Virginia.

At least one editor of a negro publication has recently pointed out the dangers to his people of rushing unprepared into competition with Northern workment and laboring under unfamiliar conditions.

In the mean time the stream of negro emigrants still pushes North.

RECORD AIR TRIP COAST TO COAST

Big Army Monoplane T-2 Piloted by Lieuts. Macready and Kelly, Blazes 2,700-Mile Trail.

26 HOURS AND 50 MINUTES

Voltage Regulator Breaks Down at Start, but is Repaired en Route. Craft Swoops in and Out of Canyons in Rockies.

San Diego, Cal.—The world's long distance non-stop flying record was smashed when the giant army monoplane T-2 descended at Rockwell Field, San Diego, after traversing the entire distance from New York in one stage flight.

The distance of approximately 2,060 miles as the crow flies was covered in 26 hours, 50 minutes and 32 seconds actual flying time, at an average speed of approximately 100 miles an hour.

The T-2 is the plane which has twice broken world records for remaining aloft, and it also holds the world's lifting record for a single-motored airplane. It carries over 700 gallons of gasoline.

Lieutenant Macready said:

"We never doubted for a moment that we would make the flight a success. Our eastward effort of last winter in the same plane, you know, was halted because of radiator trouble after we had covered formedhs of the distance. We felt certain of making the coast-to-coast journey this time without mishap. We were fortunate, all of the last night and sunshine and gentle breezes throughout today."

Lieutenant Kelly said over his coffee at luncheon:

"The performance of our Liberty motor was perfect in every respect. From the time it lifted our overloaded plane from Roosevelt Field it knew God away at racing speed hour after hour with never a falter until we came to earth today.

"At all times we felt entire confidence in the motor. And our gas, was as to our oil supply would have enabled us to continue on for—"

But here a smiling but warning gesture from Major H. H. Arnold, commandant of Rockwell Field, stopped the birdman's story. It is understood the air service is not yet ready to disclose the real limit of power they have built in the T-2.

Trouble was experienced in only one respect, it was said. A minor difficulty developed in the battery regulator, but quick work righted the defect and the flight continued on. Captain R. O. Ervin, adjutant to the field commandant, said:

"Lieutenant Kelly told me the controls operated with amazing perfection. Certainly the army air service, especially General Patrick and the other chiefs at Washington, who have done so much toward improving the design and making changes for the better in almost every part of our planes since the war, are to be congratulated."

Lieutenants Kelly and Macready received a basketful of congratulatory telegrams from personages throughout the country.

The two aviators achieved much fame and some fortune from their feat. They will be enriched to the extent of at least $2,000.

Both airmen will remain on duty at Rockwell Field until next spring probably, when they will go east to prepare for their flight around the globe.

From a standpoint of national defense, it says, a non-stop transcontinental air voyage indicates the feasibility of transporting men, messages, equipment or any other vital necessity, from one coast to the other in an incredibly short time.
